Let Me Introduce You

WELCOME!

Each month our informative and useful newsletter focuses on new plant varieties, upcoming events plus industry trends and news. Feel free to pass along.

What's in YOUR Landscape?

It is so easy to use the same plant palette over and over. You have confidence in plant performance, maintenance and design aesthetic. The so called 'tried and true' are great until one day you realize how similar your designs begin. You're in a 'plant rut'. It's time to RETHINK YOUR LANDSCAPE™ and look for new plant ideas!

"Cities are partnering with water districts to promote the use of low water requiring plants in residential and commercial installations. In addition residential landscapes are becoming smaller and smaller. Both of these situations pose challenges in finding just the right balance for our clients. Many of the new plant introductions that we are seeing from Village Nurseries are helping us to achieve both- plants for smaller spaces as well as plants with low water requirements. The folks at Village Nurseries keep us up-to-date on new introductions," says

Bob Clark, Principal, Clark & Green Associates Landscape Architecture in Costa Mesa, CA.

Over the last 24-months we have added over 300 new items to our already vast and diverse plant selection. We have partnered with growers and breeders, locally and abroad, to bring you exceptional new plants that are best suited for our climate.

"As a landscape architect, the plant material I select is critical to the success of my projects. Over the years I've come to depend on Village Nurseries to provide me with the 'what's new and different' to create inspiration to any planting challenge," says Jim Lutrell, Landscape Architect, Principal, Earthline Design in Orangevale, CA.

Our goal at Village Nurseries is to be a complete resource, a one stop shop providing you with creative ideas using new and different plant materials. We'll always have popular favorites, too. We feel confident that when you RETHINK YOUR LANDSCAPE™ Village Nurseries will be ready to be your partner!
